Rosie's Peace Worker Now

What has become of the millions of war workers in plane plants, munitions factories, and shipyards now that their services are no longer required? America's personal items in small-town dailies and country weeklies supply the answer to this question. Rosie the riveter is once more behind the counter at Slocum's dry goods store, quietly putting into practice a few of the merchandising ideas she gained while shopping in the crowded war-producing center.

Gregory Giles, who did precision tooling on B29s, was welcomed back at the Adams Auto Repair. If he is missing from his old haunts, it is because he is putting in his spare time bringing his mother's kitchen up to date, utilizing the practical pointers he picked up away from home.

Shipbuilder Smith's large family has returned from California to buy the Oklahoma "30" upon which his heart has long been set, while Hired Man Harris, now boasting a bank account, is back on the farm, applying assembly-line methods to good effect.

In thousands of instances, these "minute men," their emergency employment ended, are returning to the Old Home Town to step into their former jobs or to fill new ones that have sprung up during their absence. And each is giving generously of the knowledge acquired through rubbing shoulders with the outside world.

Easy to Forget

It is easy to forget that industries are nothing more than a collection of individuals. They have the hopes and the ambitions of individuals. When they lose hope and confidence in the future, they wither. This fact, often lost sight of, is forcefully reiterated in the words of the president of a prominent oil company. In attempting to assess the future of his industry, he said:

"We approach our present forecasting problem in much the same spirit as a well-educated young man about to marry. He does not know for whom he will be working or how much he will earn or just what his financial requirements will be, but he has supreme confidence that given his health, he will be able to make a good living and give adequate support and protection to his family, though at what precise level the balance will be struck he cannot predict. The only important 'if' in his mind is the question of continued health and freedom of opportunity, and that is exactly the feeling of the petroleum industry as it looks ahead into the future. Given a continuation of a legal and economic climate conducive to free competition in discovery, research, development, and distribution, the industry knows a dozen ways that any possible demand can be met, even though it cannot predict just which of these methods will prove most efficient and economically desirable when the time comes."

CINEMATIC CHATTER

By Malcolm Milner

One of the most appreciative and thoroughly enjoyable pictures of the season will be found at the Everglades Theatre, this Sunday-Monday, when "Enchanted Cottage" with Dorothy McGuire, Robert Young, Herbert Marshall, Mildred Natwick, Hillary Brooke, Bill Williams, Spring Byington and Richard Gaines are screened in the film version of the famous Pinner play.

The picture tells of a returned war hero who rents a cottage in a small town, preparing to spend his honeymoon there. He finds, however, that his fiancée no longer loves him. She is repelled by the fact that he has been disgraced in battle. Eventually he finds consolation in the love of a servant girl whom he employs to keep house for him.

This is one of the most tender and delightful love stories you have ever sat through. With this well selected cast I am sure you will live every moment of "Enchanted Cottage."

Tuesday-Wednesday brings these two novellas: "Cover Me" and "The Man in the Navy." The first, presenting "Rough, Tough and Rough." You can bet your money on the boys to live up to the title in every respect—for we have always known them as the action men of the screen.

On the same bill with them come Wallace Beery, James Gleason, Charles Ruggles and a host of other well known featured players in a fine "the man" story of the Navy under the title "This Man's Navy." The picture is loaded with action and laughs, the story is ripe and the entire show will son and Lionel Barrymore, including the staff that made the Gillpie series, will move in with a screen under the title "Between Two Women." Here is one for the book. The story is a long and the suspense and laughs will keep you in stitches throughout the entire screening. On the same bill with the above picture comes Nina Foch and William Wright with an excellent crew of assistants in a dramatic story under the title "Escape in the Fog." This one looks very good indeed.

C. C. Seale, who has been employed at the State Experimental Station for the past six months, has leased a home in Clewiston, and he is expecting his family to arrive from the Bahamas islands in the near future. Mr. Seale for many years has been connected with the Agricultural Department of the Island Dominion, came here to do experimental work at the station, and liked the territory so well that he decided to become a permanent resident.

GOSH, ONLY A PENNY!
Once a penny was a fortune to a six-year-old. It could buy yards of licorice shoestring, an all-day sucker, or a syrup-soaked scoop of shaved ice. A penny would pay for marbles, a tin whistle, or even a little lead soldier. It was the ceiling price for a new top-string.
Nowadays, a penny won't buy much for a little boy. But it purchases a lot of labor-saving electricity.
Sonny may sniff at a penny for running an errand—yet that same penny will (at average household rates) do any of these jobs—
• Run a sewing machine all afternoon
• Keep a refrigerator cold for 4 hours
• Vacuum clean 10 large rugs
• Light a 50-watt bulb for 6 hours
• Run the washer for 6 tubs of clothes
• Give you the correct time for 7 days
• Keep a radio playing for 3 hours
Yes, a penny is still big money—electrically. Actually, average family gets just about twice as much electricity as it did 15 years ago. Keeping electric service cheap, friendly and dependable—even all through the war is a tribute to the careful business management of your electric company, and to the hard work and experience of all men and women in it.

This new building will be the temporary home of the company until its proposed new business block is located on South Main street.

Local Horses At Ft. Myers

A number of Glades horse track followers attended the races at Ft. Myers on Sunday and Monday, where they had entrants in the races. Both Harrell and Bovee, of Bean City and Belle Glade, had winners. Calico Girl, owned by Harrell, took over her field on Monday as did a horse owned by Bovee. Harrell introduced a new pony named "Midnight," eighteen months old, for his first race in competition Sunday, and the animal surprised all by his fitness and the manner in which he came in a winner. The same colt repeated on Monday and Saturday his owner was much pleased over the showing of his new race horse. A. J. Harrell, a type of a jockey, weighing 75 pounds, landed both Calico and Boree night and one of the Boree horses won and trade officials declared him the champion rider of the track for this meeting, having three winners from three starts.

EVERGLADES

(Continued from page one) current cane harvest would provide one month's supply for every person in the United States and that the "Everglades sugar producers, if given the opportunity by the government, could increase their output within 24 months to 450,000 tons and provide employment, directly and indirectly, for 75,000 persons." The nation's only source of root starch before the war was the Dutch East India Company. The same type starch will be made in the Everglades by American labor. The Everglades was the nation's only source of tannin-grass oil for the past four years, with the war cutting off outside sources. Ramin, the wonder fiber, will make its new home in the Everglades, he pointed out.

The Glades are helping to solve the nation's No. 2 food problem of meat by producing molasses feed for hogs, and, along with stock feed, much of which has had to be imported into the state in the past.

The formula for the production of those products, he said, is composed of utilization of "have not" acres of creosote Everglades waste land, researched by Dr. B. A. Bourne and his staff, and the harvesting scientific ingenuity of Bittling, who has become recognized as the country's foremost agro-industrialist.

With the development of the Everglades providing increased employment for service men and others and adding to the growth and wealth of Florida, Ferris asked Junior Chamber of Commerce members aid in making it the agro-industrial empire of the South.

Railroad Hearing In Progress

Activities before the representatives of the Interstate Commerce Commission this week shifted from the north to West Palm Beach, where hearings are under consideration at the George Washington hotel. These hearings are held with the intent of presenting counter-claims of the Atlantic Coast line and the F. E. C., the latter the group of financiers shall be given the ownership and operation control of this much disputed system.

Both sides were well fortified by leading legal counsel, and there has been a parade of witnesses, as well as the presentation of legal papers and letters, and the other side of the litigation.

Hearings are expected to continue for some time, and it is known that many West Palm Beach and Glades people will be drawn into the hearing.

AGRICULTURISTS

Another significant statement. After that he believes "we can maintain full employment at the lowest wages to prevent underfeeding," he said. "That is a goal towards which we must strive with private industry taking the lead calling on government only when necessary."

"Another goal is increased efficiency in processing, and in getting them distributed."

"The expansion of the citrus industry has not been at the request of the government," when it said "Plant more oranges or soybeans or peanuts."

Of local importance specifically, the Labor Committee submitted a resolution asking the Secretary to make available to "local farm groups the temporary and permanent housing the government agencies for farm labor, either thru lease or sale."

The Sugar Committee asked (1) An increase in the price of sugar comparable to the subsidies now granted (2) a continuation of the foreign labor at least thru 1946 (3) some immediate and definite expression as to national policy concerning expansion and the need for expansion. R. Y. Cropper, Luther Jones and Joe Ferris with John Tedlake as Chairman of this committee.

The Labor Committee also asked for a continuance of the foreign labor importations as a necessity.

Lennie Stuckey and Jess Elliott of Pahokee and Colin Engle of Tallahassee and Hillsboro Plantations were other Glades visitors.

Joe Lee Wood, formerly of Lake Harbor but now of Columbia County showed up as a delegate and Jess Aley from Seabrook, Fla. was also present. The Farm Bureau together with the Florida Vegetable Association, was a business visitor in the Glades Thursday and reports that the program for the track after the first of the year will be the most pretentious ever staged by the association.

HOPING FOR

(Continued from page 1) agricultural workers cost the federal government $30,000,000. During that year Florida had a maximum of 5000 Bahaman workers. It is estimated that less than 4100 will be available this winter. As soon as Congressional action is determined, steps will be taken to bring in several thousand Mexican workers.

Grav, on his return to Orlando this week, reported that considerable forward steps had been made in the FVC-sponsored permanent program placing migratory farm workers under administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Groups representing Florida, Texas and California met with President Harry Truman and explained to him the necessity for diversifying agricultural labor from industrial labor and from U. S. Department of Labor control.

Other FVC officials who went to Washington were Luther Chandler of Goulds, Fla., chairman of the sub-committee on foreign trade; L. L. Stuckey of Pahokee, FVC chairman, and Dixon Pearce of Miami, chairman of the sub-committee on labor. They held a series of meetings with interested departments on labor, foreign trade and other matters.

CITIZENS PROTEST

The Commission was in sympathy with the sentiments of the protesting committee, and it is safe to say that there will soon be changes going on around that corner and highway.

The Commission also discussed at length traffic regulatory measures, looking at Broadway Avenue A and B one-way streets, and not permitting truck parking on those thoroughfares.

The Commission approved the laying of a side walk along the canal bank on Lake road, for use of school children. The proposal was made for the installing of a side walk on both sides of Avenue A between Second and Fourth streets, and a like side walk from the Pioneer station southward to Avenue E.

A carnival company made proposition to the Commission for appearance in Belle Glade. Mayor Taylor and Clerk Walcott were assigned to make the necessary negotiations for the right to show here.

Commission notified George Seabrook that it was necessary to cut back the canopy or awning on his new building, which, as being constructed, would have overhung 24 inches over the side walk. This action was taken to protect the city's interests, and to avoid possible future lawsuits, as well as to avoid a precedent in such matters.

George Seabrook and Olaf Boe were granted a building permit for a $86,000 business building on Avenue A, and to Donald Aspey, one for a $6,000 apartment on Fifth street, SE; and to D. D. Criss, a tenant building for $1500 on NW Avenue E.

Flying Service

After leaving the service with approximately two years each as pilots of fighter planes, we decided to use the training that Uncle Sam gave us, and which our experiences in China, Africa, Italy and France more nearly perfected.

Dusting cotton in Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi confirmed our expectations that our qualifications are advantageous in fertilizing, and combatting pests and diseases in agriculture.

In searching for a community where we might become permanent residents and practice our profession of CROP DUSTING, the U. S. Department of Agriculture recommended the Glades. So, after investigation, HERE WE ARE, to be PERMANENT RESIDENTS, practicing our profession of FLYING.

We have two STEARMAN ships and one WACO for dusting.

We have an AERONCA for passenger service and teaching.

We are Licensed Instructors in Instrument and Acrobatics.

SERVICE REPRESENTATIVE

She can now tell you...

"We Have Turned The Corner"

She is a telephone service representative and from now on her story is more cheerful. New switchboards, cables, wire and telephones needed to provide more service are becoming available in increasing volume.

But to catch up on held orders for service and to make replacements that were necessarily postponed during the war will require very large additions to our telephone plant.

It is a tremendous construction job that will require much time to complete even after the delivery of equipment by the manufacturers. So she cannot promise just when all orders will be filled. There are places where we have complicated switchboards to install, even places where we must build new buildings or building additions to house new switchboards.

But she can say that we are on our way to give service to all who want it—on our way to restore Bell System standards of service and raise them even higher.

A.C.L. Trainman Killed in Lake Harbor Yards

Hury O. Reynolds, of Lakeland, employed as a trainman by the Atlantic Coast Line, was instantly killed in the west end of the Lake Harbor yards, on Saturday morning, when he slipped and fell under the car wheels.

The accident occurred at a point about a quarter of a mile north of the Sugar Company's plantation settlement. The accident was caused by the conductor and another crew member, but they could do nothing to aid the unfortunate man.

Justice George Tedder and Constable Ray Whitlock were summoned to make investigation, but no inquest was conducted, as evidence and testimony of eyewitnesses established that the victim's death was due to accident.

The body was removed to the Powell funeral home in Ft. Myers and later sent to the home in Lakeland.

Reynolds had been an employee of the A.C.L. for the past 15 years, and had a run on the Lakeland-Lake Harbor division, and leaves a family residing in Lakeland.

Dancing Classes Held in City Park

Classes in acrobatic, tap and ballet dancing are now being conducted every Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 at the Boy Scout hut in the City Park for children between the ages of 6 to 12. Also a special class in ball room dancing for teenagers will be held on Wednesday evenings at 8 o'clock.

Miss Julie Oglesby of Clewiston is bringing this opportunity to the children of Belle Glade, and her training and experience, as well as her sympathetic manner in handling young people rate her as an excellent teacher.

Miss Oglesby is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Oglesby of Clewiston and has studied dancing since the age of ten, completing her training at the Grace Moore Studio of Dancing in Lake Worth.

JUDGE TEDDER

Judge George Tedder, over in Tonawanda, is having a large lot filled in with muck, and some day plans to erect a commodious modern home on the site. For those who may have official business with the "Judge," they can now reach him by telephone by calling 312 through the local exchange office.

OBSERVATIONS

The Rotary and Lions clubs preparing the opening and closing programs, something pretty much will be staged. Members of the County Board of Public Instruction, which board has given much aid in granting the land for the field and providing for some of the bleacher seats, will be invited to participate in events of the celebration. To accommodate what is expected to be the largest crowd at any football game ever played in the Glades section, the Pahokee bleacher seats will be removed to Belle Glade field. The boys of our schools are also preparing something special for the between halves period, that promises to be very spectacular indeed.

In one of my lodge rituals there is a passage which reads "The Bundle of Sticks is a symbol of unity. United they cannot be broken, but singly each may easily be broken." Well, people out here in the west part of Palm Beach county are just awakening to what many organizations can do if united, and I have reference to the Drainage projects. Heretofore, it has been talk, talk and do nothing, but this time all forces are united in the common object, and things are humming and developing into the status where accomplishment of success is to be recorded. The past has been pretty good for farmers, but with these proposed added drainage advantages, even the fortune teller or astrologer, could successfully predict how far things will advance for the common betterment of farming.

Maybe, sometime in the future we can take our speedboat, and navigate the canal waterways to West Palm Beach, Miami or Ft. Myers, just as we now use our automobiles on such trips.

The Glades lands are looking pretty good and favorable to the sugar cane growers and processors in Puerto Rico, who have or will transfer some of their activities to this section.

Report is that from $6,000,000 to $10,000,000 will be invested in sugar farms and that a bank has been formed in Miami, which will handle the finances for these developments, planned after the Greek banks in New York, which finance the Greek restaurant system. Much progress has been made on the initial project at Okechanta, which has spurred on others of their countrymen in the business to decide on like investments. With a favorable Government here at home, there is nothing to stop the Glades becoming the real sugar bowl of the nation.

Now that the Odd Fellows have established a lodge in the Glades, there is arising among the wives and daughters, a demand that a Rebekah lodge be provided for their benefit, as an aid to the subordinate. As the women usually get their way in most things, they are likely to win out in this demand.

After a season's hard wear and tear by trucks and other vehicles, Commissioner Rarden might just as well make up his mind to work to secure appropriations for the rebuilding of the Okechanta road to the Migrant camp, and also the Lake road.

from the Chosen bridge to the packing house district. A little attention to the Palm Beach road might be included in the program, for its getting in a condition to cause cuss words.

The stoppage of hyacinths in the canal at the Main street bridge is creating a smelly and unsanitary condition, which should be remedied. It also gives an untidy appearance to strangers driving into and out of our city. How about it, Mayor Taylor? Couldn't you use some of that default, $25 and cost, negro labor to make this place presentable.

Highways are built for vehicular transit and not for the parking of trucks and auxiliary garages plants. Several such local bottlenecks and obstructions to safe traffic are becoming a safety menace. The City Commission plans to use the "Big Stick" unless offenders of their own volition clear the condition up.

Saw a peculiar thing, early Saturday morning, as I walked down the street. There was a parked automobile, a man perfectly snoring in the back seat, and on the front window was a printed sign "No Rooms." Guess that fellow must have found out how depleted Belle Glade is for accommodations of night guests.

Uncle Sam is getting out some colorful postage stamps these days, one bearing the profile fac-simile of Thomas Jefferson and another of the "Happy Warrior," ex-Governor Al Smith of New York.

Fans who go away from home for football games, and watch the work of the field officers, they ought to come home and be pleased with the type of officiating teams get when they play in the Glades area. Our professionals have it all over those big college fellows.

Everglades Post of the American Legion, took a forward looking step the past week, when it purchased a desirable site for a new home. Its second step will be to build a commodious home for membership and social uses. These boys coming home from the recent war, as did the men of the Civil, Spanish American and World War I, are going to be around a long while yet, and will play a most important part in civic and political affairs, and with a new home, will have suitable quarters for their activities.

How does your hair-do
now . . .

Here's a sketch we found in the old files dated February, 1916, just to show you what your hair did then! The smartest women "matted" their hair, and wore plenty of false hair if it was needed to round out the bulk and give them the top-heavy look that was the fashion of that era. "Marcel waves" were the fashion, too, and burned up many a head of perfectly good hair.

Then in 1925 Nestle's wonder machine arrived in America and changed the manes of the nation with permanent waves. Bulk remained the fashion, however. It took the advent of Greta Garbo with her shoulder-length hair worn "natural" to revamp not only the looks of American women but those of smart women the world over. Ever since, that "natural look" has been the smart look.

Anthony's Beauty Salon starts in on your hair where nature left off. Permanent waves have improved so marvelously over the years that it is possible to change a mop of straight, stringy hair to a head of soft, glossy waves and ringlets. The best available materials are used by expert operators skilled in analyzing hair types. We're justly proud of our modern Beauty Salon.

FLORIDA MOTOR LINES

YOUR SUPPLY LINE

During the war the railroads proved to be the nation's main supply line. In addition to handling 97% of the organized troop movements and 80% of the military freight, they were able to effectively serve the home-front, too.

Most of the food for your table, and countless other things you used, were brought to your community by rail.

In spite of the greatest war in history, you continued to enjoy the American way of life, with most of its comforts and conveniences.

chiefly because of your railroad's ability to deliver the goods.

Now over this supply line will flow the mounting cargoes of peace—new household equipment, building materials and supplies, farm machinery, equipment for new industries—things upon which future employment and prosperity will depend.

Thus your railroad supply line becomes an important factor in speeding the conversion from war to peace.

Future Farmers Harvest Vegetables

The first group of Future Farmers of America Agriculture pupils of the Belle Glade High School harvested the beans last week, picking 955 hampers of tendergreen beans from a nine acre tract near Bean City which was sold at the November ceiling price of $3.50 per hamper. Since all of the boys interested in the crop were from South Bay or Lake Harbor they felt it only fair to divide their sales between South Bay and Glade brokers. The beans were accordingly sold through The Everglades Produce Company of South Bay and The Pioneer Grocers of Belle Glade.

The group of boys working this tract include Don Barstow, second year agriculture student, and four first year boys, Bobby Newman and Pickett Keller of Lake Harbor, R. G. Lockmiller and Billy Strickland of South Bay. The beans just harvested were planted during the week following the September 15 hurricane. The boys did all of their own work except plowing the land which was done before school opened and the airplane dusting.

They disked and prepared the land, planted the crop and cultivated both by machinery and hand plow. Their skill as future farmers was demonstrated by their ingenuity in overcoming the usual hazards which have beset the Everglades growers during the fall season. The almost daily rainfall constantly threatened their crop with flood water and made cultivation so difficult that the thrifty crop of weeds brought on by so much rain was only controlled by constant vigilance and much hard hand labor.

That their efforts were rewarded is attested by the fact that experienced farmers pronounced it a fine field of beans. Forrest Norton of the Everglades Produce Company states that it was the best field of beans he had seen this fall; and Lee Hayman, sales manager of the Pioneer Grocers, listed the beans as "strictly fancy" and said they were as fine as any beans he had seen in the last two years.

The quality of the beans is the more remarkable in that they were grown without the use of any fertilizer. At planting time the soil was so thoroughly saturated with moisture that they feared any fertilizer planted with the seed would largely be lost so none was used. The necessary elements of plant food usually added to the soil in the form of fertilizer were put out and growing in the form of dust containing the necessary mineral elements, manganese and sulphur. This was put on in three applications at regular intervals during the growing season, with a fourth application of sulphur following the first picking to try to bring the vines back from the terrific mauling by careless pickers to a good second picking.

Belle Glade High School are under the direction of J. R. Davidson, agriculture teacher. The chapter farms one ten acre tract on Road 25 south of Belle Glade as a group and all the net proceeds go to the chapter for the purchase of machinery and for the financing of chapter needs.

A twenty acre block adjacent to the colored subdivision of Belle Glade is also being farmed by groups of the F. F. A. boys in high school. The plan is to have an older boy with some experience in each group to help the more inexperienced young farmers with their projects.

Boys who do not have land or care to do vegetable farming may elect to raise a flock of poultry, a calf or pigs. Members of the Future Farmers are required to have two projects during each school year. Meetings are conducted at regular intervals under the direction of Mr. Davidson, officers are elected and the chapter carries on a regular program under his supervision. Members also take part in chapter contests and the winners in state contests.

Merchants of Belle Glade have been very cooperative with this program, contributing substantial prizes, assisting with advice and material help. Mr. Hayman of the Pioneer Grocers and other Belle Glade brokers have uniformly waived any brokerage charges for selling F. F. A. produce in order to encourage the boys in their projects.

Each group of boys manages their own individual tracts and help with the chapter tract. Each pays his own share of rent, seed, fertilizer, insecticide and incidentals and harvesting costs. Ten per cent of the net proceeds from each tract is paid to the school for the use of school equipment and for equipment maintenance and replacement. The balance of the net proceeds is divided equally among the boys farming the tract as returns for their labor and enterprise.

Thus the Everglades boys are receiving along with their class room instruction in agriculture, actual practical experience in the various phases of vegetable growing under local conditions and the modern operation of harvesting and selling the crop. When they have finished their formal education and are ready to assume their places in the world of Everglades growers they will have some practical training in the problems to be met and overcome. They may enter the field with some assurance of success. Mr. Davidson is to be congratulated upon the success of his boys both this fall and last year.

GOLDEN RAMS

better of the play, but in the third quarter, Danis or South Broward, came out with new pep, and played all round the Glades and McCross, a crippled star, came in and plunged through the line from the 15 yard line for a touchdown. He missed the conversion point by a wide margin, owing to the sfg wind, which prevailed all through the game.

In the last quarter the Rams were again in control and by steady pushing got the ball to the point where Cherry made his timely and tying pass to Wedgworth. Fans held their breath, thinking Joe never would get the ball away, but when he located his man, it sailed true and out of reach of interference for a touchdown. And did the big Belle Glade fan section cheer!

Captain George Wedgworth was without question the outstanding "star" for the Rams, both on offense and defense. He played the finest game of his grid career. Cronarty, Bearden, Matthews, Kaufman, Pike, Harrell, Bass, also showed up flashy in their play, and the entire team possibly played the best game of the season. When one of the Bulldogs became inclined to mess it with Pike and Lloyd, he soon found that he had better subdue his rough tactics and play clean football, for these Rams were giving him a good butting around.

Neither team was able to break through the line for long runs nor did the passing game net them much gain, and in the exchange of punting, to which the Bulldogs resorted frequently, the Rams yardage was the best.

The Belle Glade band appeared between halves and put on a classy field performance, which the home fans applauded most generously. The South Broward drill team, in their red and white uniforms, and the band throwing squads of 16 majorettes in turn received a glad hand from the Glades fans, of which there were around a thousand present.

FOOTBALL CHATTER

Playing on a wet field and through a downpour of rain, the Pahokee Blue Devils played the Stuart Tigers to a 0-0 tie game to Stuart. Pahokee's line-up was really a "B" team, as the first team members were nearly all out from flu.

St. Pierce headed the Flying L's of Ft. Lauderdale an upset by winning by a score of 31 to 0.

King was the star of the Eagles, scoring four touchdowns in a 90 yard play. After all, in comparison of play and scores, the Rams' defeat at the hands of the St. Lucie county lads, was not so much of a disgrace.

Poor West Palm Beach Wildcats, Miami Beach again tamed their claws by a score of 14 to 0. Not a Wildcat victory so far this season.

Belle Glade Juniors hung up a victory over the Canal Point Juniors at Canal Point Thursday, 13 to 0.

The St. Paul and Peters team from Miami, which is scheduled to play at the local Athletic field, in the leading team in the Miami Catholic school league, and has a fine record, and is reported as strong as some of the other conference teams which Belle Glade has played. This extra game, to replace the scheduled Okeechobee game, will be played under the lights on Nov. 20th.

Our "B" team will show its prowess on the night of Nov. 16th when it tackles the Miami Shores eleven. Little is known here of this visiting team. This is an added game here.

Delray plays in Belle Glade, Thanksgiving eve, Nov. 21st.

Appoints Trustees

Governor Mildred Caldwell has named Herbert Beck, of Belle Glade; Sam Chastain, Canal Point; M. D. Geiger, Pahokee; E. R. Mackey of Lake Harbor, as directors for the West Palm Beach County Public hospital at Pahokee. Since it was reorganized several years ago this humanitarian institution has been doing a very acceptable job. Its operation costs are met by a general tax on district property.

Arthur Larrimore Joins Local USES Bureau

Arthur P. Larrimore, a son of Judge and Mrs. Larrimore, of Pahokee, is the new successor to "Hub" Spooner, at the U. S. E. S. office in the Sanders block, and he has assumed duties as Junior Interviewer.

Young Larrimore is a graduate of the University of Florida, and during the year has been attached to a medical unit as an assistant pharmacist, and prior to entering the service, was connected with the Farm Security Administration at its Lake Worth office.

Larrimore is well known in the Glades section, as he has made most of his life in Pahokee, and was a well known athlete in school and college.

SERVING AMERICA'S NEW FRONTIER

The South Welcomes Them

"The postwar readjustment period will bring new blood to the South. Many young men from other sections who received their training in southern camps will return and make their permanent homes in the South. They have discovered the South. They were attracted by the South's congenial climate and the quiet, easy manners of its people. They saw with their own eyes fertile lands that will produce a variety of year-round crops. They saw in the pasture lands, which provide green grazing two-thirds of the year, wonderful dairying possibilities. They were impressed by the fact that egg production and poultry raising are at the peak in midwinter, when these products of the farm are at the lowest ebb in the colder climates."
